FAMILY and RANCH:

Cindy and Dale operate a hobby horse ranch located in Town XY, a small town with a population of around 10,000 people. The farm sits in the foothills of the Rocky Mountains and is bordered by the A. River to the North. To the West the front ranges of the mountains can be seen and are only 10 miles away. It is only a 20 minute car drive to Jasper National Park and a 10 minute ride to Switzer Provincial Park.

Their 48 acre property, slightly rolled, is cross-fenced into two pastures with a spring at one end. There are many large spruce trees on site. Numerous easily-accessed hiking and riding trails are in the surrounding area.

Cindy and Dale own 11 horses of mixed breed. In addition the family owns a black Labrador Retriever mix and a Border Collie. Cindy and Dale train their own horses for trail riding and packing. Horseback riding is one of their favorite hobbies. They often make horse trips to the mountains. They enjoy the nature and enjoy going fishing and camping. Both Cindy and Dale are very sociable and friendly and their house is always open to visitors and neighbors. They are very involved with their community and often meet with neighbors and friends to go horse riding.
